

Question marks

We use a question mark at the end of a sentence that asks a question.
A question mark takes the place of a period.

Write a period or a question mark at the end of each sentence below. Then write the whole sentence.

Do you like dogs .....

I like dogs a lot .....

I like cats also .....

Do you like them .....

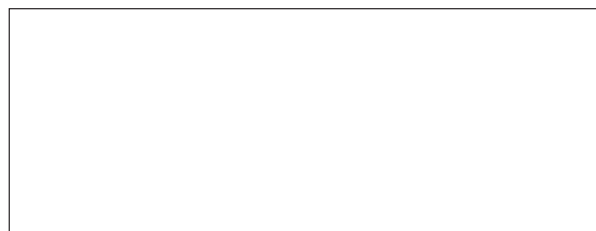

Do you have a pet .....

What is your pet's name .....

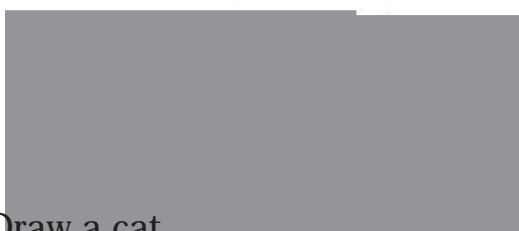

My pet is called Kit .....

I love my pet .....

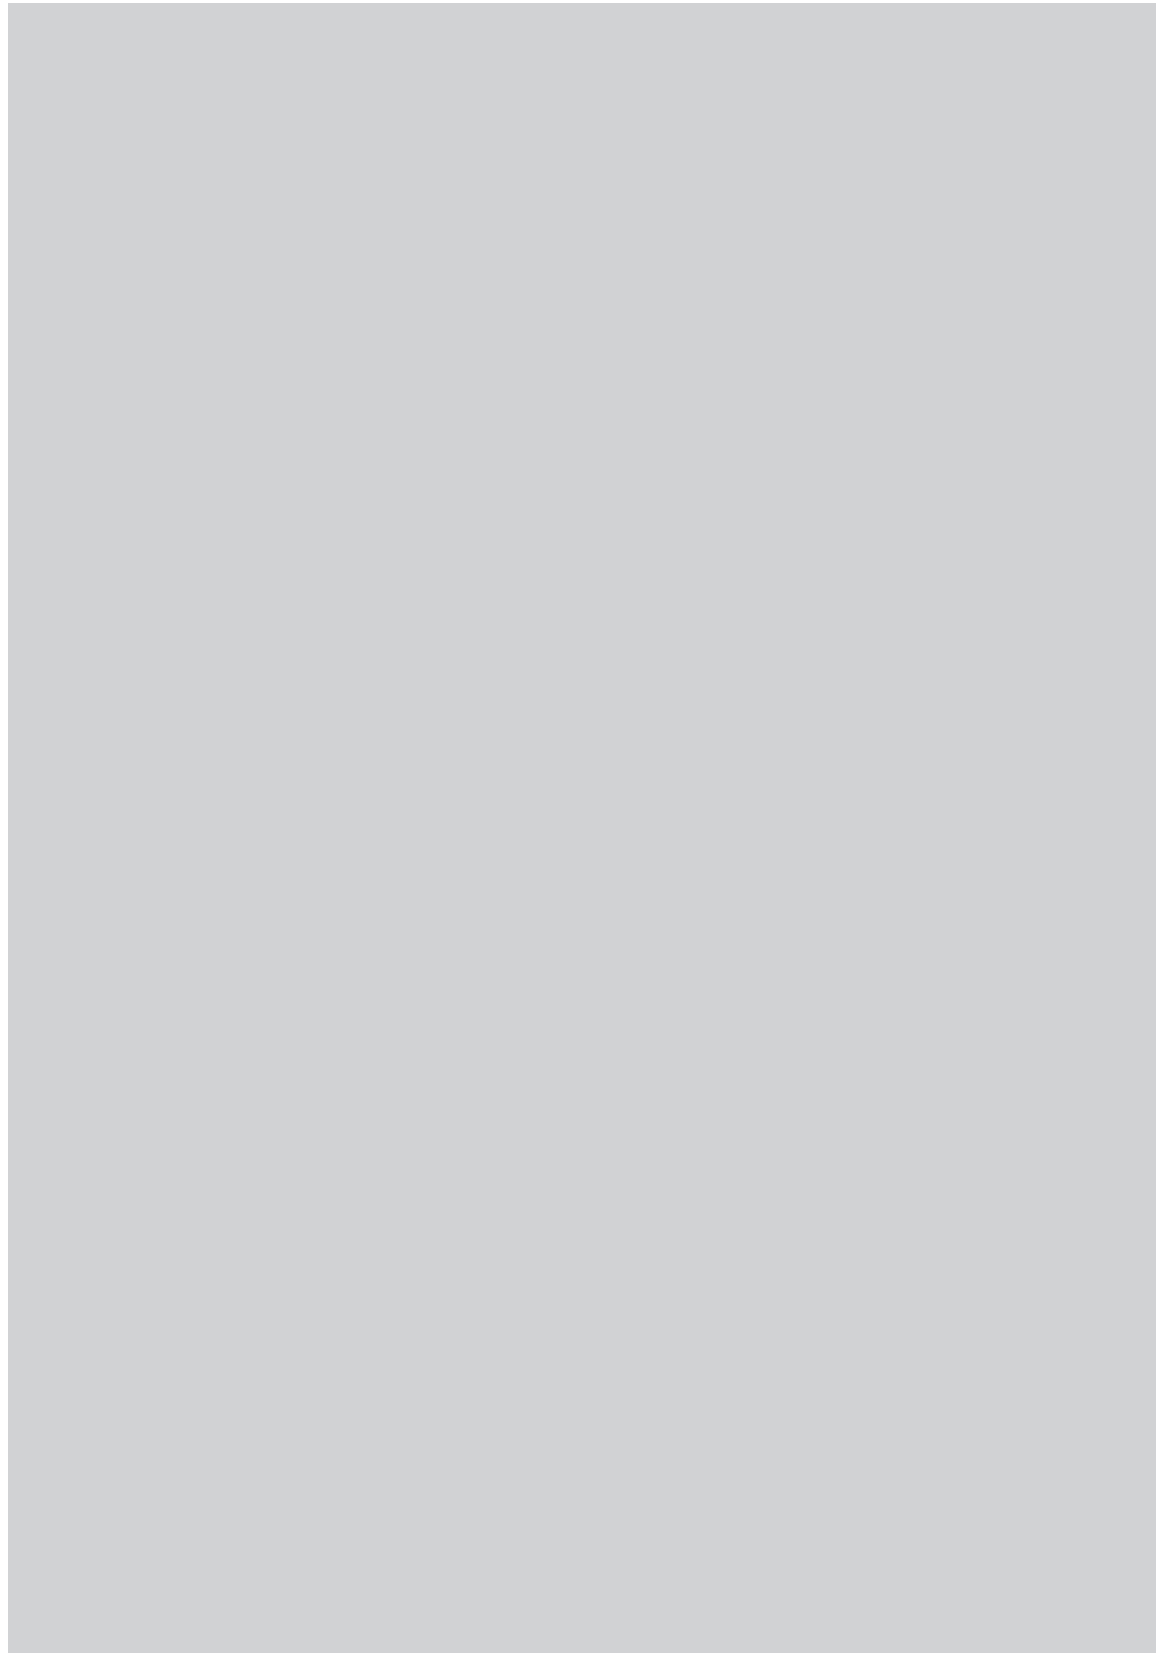

First draw pictures, then answer the questions below.

Draw another mouse.
Are there two or three mice now? .....

Draw a cat.
Does it have a tail? .....

Punctuation helps reading and writing accuracy. Explain that punctuation marks help us make sense of text and how a question mark indicates a question.
